

Politics And War

"I have been in every capital in Europe except Petrograd and on every battle front," says W. C. Shepard, the great war correspondent. "I have seen the horrors of war and results of war, the mental, the moral, the physical and material wrecks caused by war. I have seen the efforts of the Allies to draw the United States into war with Germany, of Germany to draw it into war with England. There were times over there when we held our breath lest the United States be dragged into the struggle, and war seemed the only way out.

"But always sane, sound, steady, the United States came through. It was a magnificent thing to see from our point of vantage in Europe. It made one thrill to realize that the United States was his own country.

"Now, when I return home, I find an election campaign under way. I hear men say that we have peace without honor. We, in the European capitals, who saw our government escape the war traps, felt no loss of honor. We were always able to look the other fellow in the eye and be proud. No one over there ever seriously charged us with loss of honor, and men are highly sensitive to such things over there.

"We were proud of American unity and of American statesmanship and that cool, calm reckoning of the American people which prevented them from being stampeded.

"It was a fine, thrilling thing to be an American in European capitals and to know that in our capital at Washington there were men as shrewd and as far-sighted as any of the statesmen of Europe; to know, also, that the statesmen in Washington were steadier, saner, less influenced by hate and bitterness and better able to judge right and wrong than the wisest statesmen in Europe.

"And to come home now to the U. S. and witness the attempt to thrust from the guidance of American affairs the government which had led the U. S. through this maze of diplomacy and machination is, to one who has witnessed affairs from the European end, little short of terrifying. It is like playing with dynamite.

"Certainly the steadiness of our government is as important to us as the steadiness of their government is to Germans or Britishers; our danger is as great, if not so imminent and apparent as theirs. The certain grasp of our present government on war affairs is as important to us as the grasp of Von Bethmann-Hollweg or Asquith is to Germany or England."

How To Take Honey

Surplus honey should be taken from the supers before cold weather to avoid chilling the bees, but on warm days, even late in fall, if the bees are still working honey may be taken where for any reason it has not been removed earlier.

Honey is produced in three forms, depending upon the beekeeper and the type of hive. Some work for section or comb honey, others merely cut out the comb honey in chunks, while others use an extractor for throwing the honey out of the combs, when the combs are returned to the bees for refilling. Section honey can be produced only where a movable comb hive is used and the sections full of honey are simply removed from the hive when filled and capped. Chunk honey may be taken from bee trees, gums, box-hives or movable frame hives. The hive is simply opened and the surplus supply cut out in chunks and stored in cans or jars. Extracted honey, and that is the type of honey which is most suitable for immediate use on the table, is removed from the chunks by means of an extractor where movable comb hives are in use.

To remove surplus honey select a warm day and work rapidly as possible so as to avoid exposing the honey to robber bees. Also be careful to avoid spilling or smearing honey about the hive or ground as it always encourages robbing, the most undesirable trait of bees. Above all remember to remove only surplus honey and leave the brood chamber strictly alone.—L. Haseman.

Keeping Yourself Well

HOW YOU GET SICK

Sometimes you overload your stomach with rich foods. Your life may be an active one, and thus you may care for all you eat. But a few days of inactivity show your system does not call for so much. You awake in the morning tired. Your body feels heavy; you know you are not up to the mark. Your digestion has not cared for the overload. Part of it remains. It generates gas that inflames the delicate linings. They fail to pour out the digestive fluids and neglect to absorb the life-giving elements. You know something is wrong. Your body gets weak, and soon opportunity is offered for some severe illness.

Taken in time, the indigestion would not become serious. First remove the overload; then soothe the sore membranes; then build up the weakened body. It's simple to say, but not too easy to do. You need help. A tonic that will quicken digestion, help remove waste, soothe the soreness and arouse the system—that's just what you need. Peruna has an enviable record in this respect. It has aided many thousands in the last century to overcome just these conditions, and thereby prevent serious sickness. The tablet form is convenient for regular administration.

Manhattan Tablets are the ideal laxative and liver tonic. They have no unpleasant effects and form no habit. 10c and 25c. The Peruna Co. Columbus, O.

To Fatten Sheep

Mr. C. G. Starr who buys and feeds several thousand lambs each year in a talk to the Missouri sheep feeders at the University of Missouri said:

"To be a successful feeder requires more use of brains than any other line of agriculture.

"The successful feeder must be on the watch for things to happen in the pens.

"Care in being punctual with breakfast for lambs will do wonders.

"The greatest trouble we have in feeding is to induce our partners and customers to feed plenty. No one ever made sheep fat by stinting them.

"Lambs really do best in dry lots when the feeding begins too late to use green blades of corn and grass. They have a disposition to wander and will not stay with the feed unless more or less closely confined.

"Enough troughs should be provided for grain feeding so that all can get all the grain they desire.

"The water should always be fresh and clean; have plenty of it in enough troughs so that sheep can easily drink.

"Plenty of corn is always needed. Cottonseed meal is very useful, especially when silage is used. A pound of silage per head per day is about enough."
